

ABSTRACT

A test device for an ink cartridge comprises means for supplying ink from the ink cartridge to a strip of paper. The device is embodied in such a way that the means for supplying ink from the ink cartridge can also supply ink off the strip of paper. One such test device enables the paper consumption to be reduced, a drive of the strip of paper to be maintained, and the energy consumption thereof to be reduced.